AMERICAN AND FOREIGN OFFICE.

R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of PATENTS (Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)
No. 70 STATE STREET, ROOM 37,
BOSTON.

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States, also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries—
Inventions, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. He consideres made into American or Foreign works, by determining the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions, and legal or other advice required in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through its inventors have advantages for securing patents, and ascertaining the practicability of inventions, unsurpassed by if not immeasurably superior to any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below give proof that none is MORE successful AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.
The immense practice of the subscriber, during twenty years past has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to Patents. Therefore, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and all accounts of patent granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer
superior facilities for obtaining patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washinton, to procure a patent, and the usual great expense, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston did business at the Patent Office, 70 Solicitor of procuring Patents. There were few, if any persons, living in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, ability and success. I regret Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMOND BURKE,

Late

The circulation of "The News" is double that of any paper in the State out of the city of Providence. At the office of publication every facility is had for the execution of all kinds of Book & Job Printing with neatness and despatch.

The Fishing Bounties.

The bill repealing the Fishery Bounties, to which we alluded a few days since, subsequently passed the Senate by a vote of 30 to 25—nearly every Southern Senator, and most of the Administration Senators from the North, supporting it—there being, of the latter class, but four exceptions. No Republican Senator, from any quarter, voted for the repeal—and Mr. Philip Allen seems to have concluded that he had achieved "glory enough" by his Lecompton operations, and actually opposed the repeal bill. So much must be set down to his credit.

To show the equal unfairness and injustice of the men who have pushed this measure through the Senate. It is proper to state that an amendment to the bill, proposing the repeal of the tariff duties on Sugar, was knocked in head with great punctuality and emphasis—because the Sugar duties operate to put a good many handsome thousands, and tens of thousands, and hundreds of thousands of dollars, into the pockets of Southern gentlemen for the labor of their Slaves; while the fishermen of New England do their own work, and it is no particular matter whether they have any governmental encouragement or protection—So the Southern Senators and their Northern allies seem to think—judging from their votes on this and some other questions—though we cannot but think the proposed abrogation of the Fishing Bounties is designed as much for a punishment of the strong Anti Slavery sentiments of the New England States, as any thing.

We do not like to believe that a measure so obviously unjust can pass the House of Representatives. But, since the passage of the Lecompton Railway bill, our confidence in the House has dwindled down to a very small measure indeed.

The Kansas Act.

The Syracuse (N. Y.) Journal thus clearly and justly states the substance of the Kansas-English bill which has passed both houses of Congress—

The people of Kansas are to vote upon a proposition of the Federal Government to grant to them about five million acres of land for the construction of Railroads through their territory. If they vote "Yes," then it is to be understood that they have accepted the Lecompton Constitution as well as the land grant—and they are to be at once received as a State with their present population of 40,000. If they vote "No," then the land grant, then they are not to be allowed to come into the Union until an official census shall have shown that Kansas has a population sufficient to entitle her to a Member of Congress—which is 25,000 now, to be increased from 110,000 to 125,000 after 1860. The people are not to vote upon the Lecompton Constitution at all—that is, directly. In the words of a contemporary, "They are not even to have the poor privilege offered by the rascals who concocted it. The Oligarchs say to the people of Kansas—Here is the Lecompton Constitution sanctioning slavery, and fastening it upon you for years to come; and here is a bill giving you an immense amount of public lands. You need not vote for the Constitution, and you shall not vote against it; but if you say AYE to the land question, it will be construed as an expression of your wish to come into the Union with the Lecompton Constitution. If you reject the grant, you will be understood as declaring that you don't want to come into the Union at present under any Constitution."

The Louisville Journal has the following of the Washington Monument:

We find the pleasure, if it was one, of seeing this monument, two or three months ago. We could scarcely lay the ball of a finger upon any part of it not disfigured by bullet and shot marks. We suppose every boy in all that region, who can shoot a gun, has taken a pop at it at every opportunity. The monument appears to be about half finished, and has remained in its present condition for several years. The explanation of its being left in such a condition is this:—A New York widower, wealthy and very vain of his wealth, was courting, a few years ago, a young lady connected with the Washington family. A monument to the mother of Washington was at that time talked of, and the amorous widower to make a display of riches and win the favor of his lady love, claimed the privilege of building it with his own resources. By the expenditure of several thousand dollars, he raised it rapidly to its present height, but he did not rise in Miss C.'s favor so briskly as his stone structure raised in the air. In fact, she absolutely discharged him, and then, as was to be expected he indignantly refused to pay for the laying of another stone. Of course the structure, as no one else saw fit to take hold of it, has ever since remained at just the height it had reached when the widower was jilted.

THE MONSTER NUGGET FROM AUSTRIA.—The monster nugget, the discovery of which in Australia, and its subsequent history and shipment to England, has been before announced, has arrived in London, and is on exhibition at the official rooms of the Crystal Palace. It was found at the "Kingwood diggings," 130 miles from Melbourne. Its length was two feet four inches, and its width was one foot six inches.

LOCAL NEWS.

A person standing upon the head of any wharf in town, yesterday afternoon, would have witnessed a deserted, and, perhaps, for a halting age, rather a mournful spectacle. The harbor lay, outstretched, as smooth as glass, undimpled by the slightest breeze, and, sad to say, unoccupied by a single vessel. There were, indeed, one or two craft moored in the docks, but the bosom of the harbor knew no cares beyond a couple of very diminutive sail boats. The whole scene was extremely well adapted to warm the heart of a malevolent and revengeful Narragansett Indian, but must have moved the enlightened genius of maritime trade, whose beneficent face and temple smile upon the approaching seaman from Commercial Wharf, to alternate paroxysms of disgust and grief. Those emotions are not unknown to ourselves as we pen these lines; thinking all the while with how much simpler pleasure we would hasten to record the arrival of a fleet of stately Indianmen, fragrant with tropical fruit, or of Whalers, less grand and odoriferous, but equally beloved of merchants, which should furl their sails and cast their anchors in a haven where ships used to congregate when American commerce was in infamy, and where now, nothing often comes but fishing smacks and summer skiffs.

The Rhode-Island Baptist Sabbath School Convention celebrates its 18th Anniversary at the North Baptist Church, (Rev. Mr. Malcomb's) to-day. The services will commence at ten o'clock.

The steamer Cannonius has been chartered to bring the delegates from Providence, Bristol and Warren. In the morning reports will be given of the condition at this time, of all the Sunday schools in the State. In the afternoon an essay will be read by the Rev. Mr. Chase, of Warren.

Right Rev. Bishop Clarke, will preach at Zion Church, this evening; services commencing at 8 o'clock.

The Life of Capt. John Smith and the Life of General Israel Putnam, are the titles of the first and second volumes of a new publication designed for the libraries of youth, which appears under the name of the "American Biographical Series." These books are written by George Comings Hill an author who is evidently at home in this department of literature. His aim, as he declares in his Preface, is most especially "to familiarize the youth of our day with those striking and manly characters, that have long ago made their mark, deep and lasting, on the history and fortunes of the American Continent." Of the sincerity of such an intent, the works before us are a convincing proof. The style of the binding and typography is enough to establish the reputation of the publishers, E. O. Libby and Company of Boston; and when we say that the books may be obtained of Mr. Chas. E. Hammond, Jr., of Newport, we have done everything to induce the parents hereabout to place them in the hands of their children.

The following communication, which will possess a peculiar interest to the friends of Freedom and Human Rights, we publish without comment, although our regret and our warmest sympathy go with the illustrious writer, upon his voyage in search of ease and health:

Letter from Charles Sumner to his Constituents.

To the people of Massachusetts:

Two years have now passed, since, while in the enjoyment of perfect health, I was suddenly made an invalid. Throughout this protracted period, amid various vicissitudes of debility, I seemed to be slowly regaining the health that had been taken from me, until I was encouraged to believe myself on the verge of perfect recovery. But injuries so grave as those originally received by me are not readily repaired, and a recent relapse painfully admonishes me that, although enjoying many of the conditions of a prosperous convalescence, I am not yet beyond the necessity of caution. This has been confirmed by the physicians in Boston and Philadelphia, most familiar with my case, who, in concurrence with counsels previously given by medical authorities in Europe, have enjoined travel as best calculated to promote my restoration. Anxious to spare no effort for this end, so long deferred, I to-day sail for France.

To the generous people of Massachusetts who have honored me with an important trust, and cheered me by so much sympathy, I wish to express the thanks, which now palpitate in my bosom, while I say to them all collectively, as I would say to a friend, Farewell.

But these valedictory words would be imperfect if I did not seize this occasion to declare what I have often said less publicly, that, had I originally foreseen the duration of my disability, I should at once resigned my seat in the Senate, making way for a servant more fortunate than myself in the precious advantages of health. I did not do so, because, like other invalids, I lived in the belief that I was soon to be well, and was reluctant to renounce the opportunity of again exposing the hideous barbarism of Slavery, now more than ever transfused into the National Government, infecting its whole policy, and degrading its whole character. Besides I was often encouraged by

CORRESPONDENCE.

New York, May 31, 1858.

Mr. Editor.—The Provision markets, for the last week, closed dull—Flour, Pork, Lard, Butter, Cheese and Sugar all tending the same way—superfine State flour going as low as $3.50 per barrel. The expected Western trade has, thus far, made a poor show, and there is little activity in any branch of business. It is said that the very small chance of a war with England has affected stock operations unfavorably—the sales being fewer and lower for a few days, than usual. In fact, it is rather a dull time, all round.

The Arctic and Wabash, U. S. steam vessels, from the Brooklyn station, have been ordered to Cuba for the protection of the American shipping from British aggression in that quarter. If our government had hitherto fulfilled its treaty engagements and enforced its own laws relative to the foreign slave trade, it is not probable we should have been troubled with any of the recent cases of "aggression" on the part of British cruisers. The utter ignoring of the manifest cause of the present difficulty is disgraceful to the administration and its helpers, whether in Congress or elsewhere.

The funeral of an old and estimable member of the N. Y. press—Mr. Edgar W. Davies—took place yesterday. Mr. D. was, I think, a native of Massachusetts, and was formerly a newspaper publisher in Boston, but has been for nearly thirty years a resident of this city. Many years ago he published a weekly paper here, called The Old Countryman, and was afterwards concerned in one or two daily journals. Of late years, he has served as law and general reporter for the Sun—was a very careful and reliable man, well known, and much respected.—His age was 58.

The Brooklyn Eastern District Sunday Schools made a very large and handsome display on Friday last—some six thousand children appearing in procession, with their teachers. A single school—that of Lee Avenue—exhibited 1,200 pupils. There were some twenty schools in all, and various exercises were had in the different churches, prior to the procession. The sight of so many "little people," all neatly dressed and highly relishing their holiday, drew out a vast concourse of admiring parents and other spectators.

Our wise Board of Councilmen have passed a resolution calling upon the City Comptroller, A. C. Flagg, Esq., to resign his office, under a threat of sending a special commission to Albany to demand his removal by the Governor. It is doubtful if there is a more thoroughly honest and capable officer anywhere than Mr. F.; but he has the misfortune to be growing old, there has been sad misconduct by some of his clerks, and his unflinching adherence to the Republican party, (though nearly all his life a supporter of Democratic men and measures) renders him distasteful to the Lecompton councilmen. I trust he will not be "resolved" out of office by them, and I doubt if Gov. King will molest so faithful and competent an officer.

The steamer Moses Taylor brings a Million and a Half in gold from California, which will again raise the Bank specie to Thirty-five Millions or more. Great excitement existed at San Francisco, in consequence of alleged new and vast discoveries of gold away to the northward, partly in the British possessions, multitudes of Californians were gone and going to the new "diggings."

There is a rush of people to Europe this season—two steamers which left on Saturday, taking between four and five hundred passengers.

The swill-milk, investigations and disclosures are still going forward, ad nauseam. The excitement has tended to a partial abatement of the nuisance, but there is evidently a game of concealment and deception playing, by which it is hoped to continue the infamous trade. It may require stringent legislation to break it up.

RAMBLER.

WASHINGTON, Monday, May 31.

The House Committee on the Judiciary have reported that the late financial revolution is not properly attributable to the action of the banks, but rather to rash land and railroad speculations. This doctrine may be well enough to pacify that numerous and respectable class of our citizens, by Doesticks politely denominated Damphools, but all men of ordinary intelligence know that the real cause of the revolution was the inability and refusal of the banks to redeem their paper and pay their depositors. A run being accidentally or designedly started on one or two delinquent "institutions" the panic rapidly spread throughout the whole connected and bankrupt system. What had land or railroad speculators to do with the soundness of the currency? Did they manufacture the money that they used?—Was it incumbent upon them to redeem the funds that they paid out? If they borrowed of the banks more of the people's money than they were able to pay back, was it not the fault of the lenders of the people's money, rather than of the borrowers? If the banks had not loaned the money, and if the speculators had not borrowed it, would there have been a financial revolution? Why?

did not the honorable Committee charge the revolution on the honest farmers, mechanics, and tradesmen that ran to the banks with their certificates of deposit and promises-to-pay, to draw out the gold and silver that was their due? These are the men after all that caused the revolution, and, at their own loss, crushed out of existence the bungling "institutions" that this honorable Committee are now seeking to rebuild and restore to public favor and confidence.

When the Constitution of the United States was framed and Congress established, it was designed that its members should not only act as the Representatives of their immediate constituents, but that they should devote their time, talents, and votes, to the consideration and disposition of all national measures, and all private and sectional measures not immediately concerning their own constituents,—in short, that they should act as the employees of the whole nation, as well as of respective parts. This was the original understanding between the States, and is now the fundamental understanding between constituents and their representatives. Every bill that comes before Congress, whether public or private, affects, either directly or indirectly, the whole nation, and every part of it, and every individual in it, and consequently the whole nation, every part of it, and every individual in it, should be properly represented in the consideration and disposition of every measure, whether public or private. Both the advocates and opponents of every public bill, and the beneficiaries and the contrary, in cases of private bills, are entitled to a full vote. Therefore, any member of Congress that voluntarily and unnecessarily absents himself from any debate or vote shirks the labor and responsibility of his office, and defrauds his country and his constituents; and every member that persists in an adjournment of Congress on the 7th of June, knowing of either public or private business being left unfinished, proves himself an unfaithful servant.—By the way, the only thing that can now keep Congress in session after the 7th of June, is a disposition to await the action of the British Government on the subject of the recent outrages.

The oldest woman in Michigan, Mrs. Vilette of La Salle, Monroe county, was buried on Wednesday morning in the Catholic burying ground. She was 112 years of age, and had lived in that region the better part of a century. Her husband—the third or fourth one—is still living, aged seventy years. She made her will in the latter part of the last century, and has outlived all the persons to whom she had bequeathed her property. She was a small woman and very active for one of her age.

INGENIOUS INVENTION.—A "Postage Stamp Distributor" has been invented by S. Derham of Wakefield, England. This instrument is intended for the delivery of postage or other stamps, singly to purchasers, so as to dispense with the attendance of an official for this purpose at the post offices. A penny being put into a hole near the top, unlocks the instrument, and allows a handle to be used to such an extent as to protrude from between two rollers a single stamp which the purchaser tears off. One stamp only can be had a time; and a half penny or a smaller coin is rejected.

It is now stated that Mr. Hyde of Norwich, who was charged with opening his wife's grave to get her teeth, was erecting a family monument, and was induced to open his wife's coffin to see if the body had been disturbed; when, noticing the teeth he took them out, "but without premeditation or attempt at concealment." The value of the articles recovered he did not think of. But after it was done he realized the true nature of the net, and has ever since labored under great mental anguish on account of it.

Rumors are rife at Gallatin, Tenn., of most astounding disclosures to be made by the Legislative Committee in regard to defalcations, robberies, and thefts, connecting names hitherto unblemished even by suspicion, with these crimes. The chief defaulter is the Secretary of State, Dr. T. N. W. Burton, who has "vamosed."

DIED.

In this city, 29th inst., very suddenly, Mr. Samuel B. Vernon.

The funeral will take place from his late residence, corner of Clark and Mary streets, at 10 o'clock, (this) Wednesday morning. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend.

ALPINE HAIR BALM

Restoring Grey Hair to its original Color.

Warranted to cure Baldness, Scurf, Dandruff, itching and all diseases of the skin. This Balm gives the scalp a new and healthy action; restores the coloring matter to the roots of the Hair, which passes through the Hair and gives a natural color without the use of Hair Dye.

It keeps the hair from falling off. Mr. Mason, Sir—I have found a Hair Restorative in your Alpine Hair Balm, which has wonderfully changed the gray locks for their original color, has given them a glossy hue, which before they never had.

PREMIER S. ROSS, 129 Wickenden street.

Providence, May 20, 1857.

G. A. P. Mason.—Dear Sir—I am now using the Alpine Hair Balm, which I had of you, with most happy results. On the 30th of June last, my hair (which had been gray for many years) was fast falling out; but on the third application of the Balm it ceased falling, and is now firmly rooted, and very nearly its original color. By the use of one bottle, I confidently expect a complete, permanent, and original head of hair. It every gray haired skeptic would try it, they would soon become "living epistles, known and read of all men," as having used the Alpine Hair Balm. Yours, &c.

O. A. STROH & CO. TESTIMONY OF A LADY OVER 50 YEARS OF AGE.

Mr. Mason, Sir—I write to inform you how pleased I am with your Alpine Hair Balm. My hair has been gray for a number of years, and I have been obliged to wear a front piece and cap; but have always found a difficulty when having a bonnet on to keep the front piece from working back and showing the white hair. Finally I concluded I would try your Alpine Hair Balm; I used one bottle only and my hair has come back to its natural color, which was brown. My hair is now perfectly free from dandruff and is soft and easy. Very respectfully, SARAH LYON.

PURE LIGHT STRAW COLORED

COD LIVER OIL.

A PERFECTLY RELIABLE ARTICLE.

As a remedy for consumption, bronchitis, female debility, asthma, gout, rheumatism, scalds, eruptions, neuralgia, infantile wasting, emaciation, &c.—it has no equal. It ought to be used freely as an element of nutrition in any case where there is decay, however slight, of the constitution. It will restore feeble children to robust health, and is the most valuable nutritive agent known. Thousands have been rescued from the Grave of the Consumptive.

By its timely and adequate use!

The oil made by us is recommended as the BEST of foreign or domestic origin, by Professor A. A. HAYES, of Boston, and all the Physicians of this city. The New York Chemical Gazette, says "We take pleasure in testifying to the superiority of Hazard & Caswell's Pure Medicinal Cod Liver Oil over that we usually meet with."

Consumers can depend upon this oil, as strictly pure, and scientifically prepared.
